Dear OSU Palestine Solidarity Coalition:

You are aware that university leaders, including President Murthy in informal settings, have repeatedly engaged your members directly and respectfully. In these settings, the President and the university leaders have listened, explained the university's positions, and committed to actions to address encampment demonstrators' concerns.

While the actions the university is now pursuing do not satisfy all of your demands, they are responsive, significant, address matters over which the university has control and are consistent with the university's mission and values.

We have attached a side-by-side comparison of your demands and the university's actions with sincere hopes that you will see OSU's efforts to respond to your concerns and join university-wide efforts to make meaningful change.

Sincerely,

Rob Odom
University Spokesperson
