What is Strategic Resource Renewal?

The Strategic Resource Renewal (SRR) initiative is a university-wide effort to ensure Oregon State University has the resources, flexibility and capabilities needed to advance its education, research, and outreach and engagement mission and deliver on Prosperity Widely Shared – today and for decades to come.

SRR takes a look across the university's academic enterprise and operational support functions to identify opportunities to:

Strengthen student success and educational outcomes

Improve financial sustainability and resilience

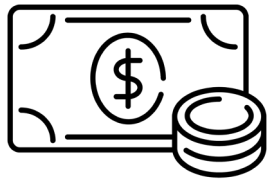

Support and grow OSU's research, outreach, and engagement mission

Free up and generate resources that can be reinvested in OSU's highest priorities

SRR: Five Focus Areas

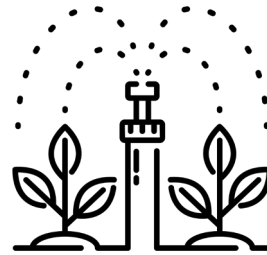

- Seeking opportunities and developing a menu of possibilities
- Currently gathering and validating data
- Input from more than 60 stakeholders and subject matter experts across the university

Advancing OSU's Mission with SRR

As a land grant institution committed to teaching, research, and outreach and engagement, Oregon State University promotes economic, social, cultural, and environmental progress for the people of Oregon, the nation, and the world.

SRR Phases and Timeline

Phase I: Diagnostic and Benchmarking

February-March 2026

A comprehensive, university-wide assessment to understand OSU's current state, identify opportunities, and develop a fact-based menu of potential initiatives

Phase II: Solution Design and Implementation

April-July 2026

Co-developing detailed plans for a prioritized set of opportunities selected by university leadership, including clear owners, timelines, and expected impact

Phase III: Implementation and Ongoing Consultation

Fall 2026-Winter 2027

Supporting OSU leaders and teams as selected initiatives move into execution and building the capabilities needed to sustain impact overtime
