1. Call to Order/Roll/Declaration of a Quorum

2. Opening Comments and Reports

a. Chair’s Comments

Chair Reser welcomed Tim Nesbitt, chair of the Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC). She noted that the meeting was the first for the Board as Oregon State’s governing body and thanked the other trustees for committing their time and energy to the governance process. She also noted that trustees must be diligent and balance their interest, engagement, and authority with a clear understanding of their role in overseeing, rather than actually managing, the University’s affairs.

b. President’s Report

President Ray highlighted several items of note since the Board’s meeting in March, including the death of former OSU President Paul Risser, University Commencement, the Campaign for OSU, the decision to honor veterans by recognizing Veterans Day as a University holiday, beginning in 2015 and the appointment of Ron Adams as interim vice president for research.
c. Faculty Senate Report
   In his report, Dan Edge, president of the Faculty Senate, brought two items to the attention of the Board: a proposal that the Board receive a report from the Faculty Senate at each of the Board’s regular meetings and a summary of the recommendations from the Faculty Senate’s Faculty Status Committee on working conditions for non-tenure track faculty as OSU. The committee’s recommendations covered five categories: compensation, job security, promotion, advocacy for non-tenure track faculty, and accountability and transparency.

d. Higher Education Coordinating Commission Report
   Mr. Nesbitt provided updates on the 2015-17 Biennium funding request, allocation formulas, and access and affordability. He noted that allocation formulas beginning in the 2015-17 biennium will be outcomes-based to incentivize outcomes that meet Oregon’s 40-40-20 goal. He said that formulas will focus on student access and success to encourage institutions to enroll, retain, and graduate Oregon resident students, with a particular emphasis on underrepresented populations. Mr. Nesbitt also said that the funding formulas will be developed to encourage completion of high-demand and high-reward degrees and to recognize and reward differentiation in institutional mission and scope. Discussion centered on the possible unintended consequences of shifting to an outcomes-based funding over the next decade, and trustees expressed caution that students not be adversely affected.
